Coir matting has been used in many entrance areas for decades. Its proven ability to not only scrape but also absorb moisture from feet is why it is so popular.

Brush matting creates the best visual impact on mats. The ribbed design allows for the scraping effect to take place as mats are walked on. The major benefit to this product is the colourfast nature in comparison to coir, it is also arguably harder wearing and as such is more suited to heavy footfall entrance areas such as hotels, schools and offices.

Both of the above products are made using pre-dyed fibres that are cut and inlaid into the mat. The main advantage of this is that the design will last for the lifetime of the mat rather than rubbing off in a short period of time.

CARE INSTRUCTIONS

How do I care for my brush/coir logo mat?

Vacuum the mat regularly to remove debris that has been deposited on the mat. Shedding is normal in the initial month of use. During this period, simply brush or gently shake the mat. To prolong the life of your doormat do not place it in direct sunlight or where it will remain wet for any length of time. Avoid using abrasive chemicals to clean this product as it may stain the synthetic fibres and natural coconut fibres. If the mat becomes wet allow to air/dry naturally.
