
Cost Sheet changes & Square edge bars

Cost Sheets

I have now removed the old cost sheet templates and replaced them with the new template as per my previous email.

If you have any queries please refer to that memo first and if you are still not sure then feel free to ask me.

These new cost sheets include the £10 environmental charge (Please note this is a cost item only and there is no requisition required to be added to the system as there is no item to order or dispatch). The increases for the underlay and gripper have also been implemented.

There was one item I did not explain on my previous email. It relates to shims. At the bottom of the cost sheet there are the three sizes of shims 6mm, 9mm & 12mm and when you enter the numbers of each in the relevant column the TOTAL number required is added into the sheet above and the side shims are also calculated automatically.

As I said before please DO NOT open an existing cost sheet as a template as these will not reflect the increased prices.

Square Edges in Aluminium & Anodised

Please note Aluminium and Anodised square edges have now been added as an option on the new cost sheet. PLEASE NOTE these will be sold in 1.35m (4') lengths @ £11.50 per length. This is because many of these are used for 1m mat wells and we were getting left with loads of 3' pieces. If you need a full length select 2 "1.35m
DG