Perimeter Profile

Similar in style to the End Profile, minus the return edge, the Perimeter profile can also be used when a wooden floor meets patio doors. With the option to scribe its rear edge (if necessary), it is the ideal trim to finish a fireplace hearth.

This doesn't negate the need to check atmospheric humidity.

- Cushioning and impact sound deadening
- Unlike epoxy or resin liquid membranes, it won't break down with any subfloor movement
- Allows for a maximum of 3mm variation in substrate height over 3m.
- Supplied with an overlap on one edge to prevent moisture migration.
- Sealing tape is designed to seal the edges of the room and around pipes.
- Roll size is 2.05m x 20m

A fibre-reinforced self-levelling compound designed to prepare and smooth surface irregularities. Application may vary from 2-50mm in a single pour. Substrates should be primed in advance to assist adhesion and prevent contamination.

Preparation: The condition of the existing floor determines the final strength of the compound. The surface should be firm, cohesive and free from loose particles, dust, dirt and grease.

Priming: Should not be done until the surface is prepared and dry enough that the primer adheres. Porous and impermeable surfaces should be treated with primer in different proportions according to the instructions. The minimum ambient temperature is 6°C, the optimum is 10-18°C.

Mixing: Preferably done with an electric mixer or a mixing pump, until achieving an even smooth texture. Remains workable for approximately 30 minutes in optimum temperature.

Application to concrete, plaster, ceramic tiles, painted surfaces: Thickness 2-50mm.

Application to wooden floors: Thickness 5-50mm.

Application to heated floors: The compound must cover the heating cables by a minimum thickness of 5-10mm.

Building up a fall: A mix with reduced water content must be applied along the wall. The compound will flow towards the floor drain, which must be edged with a retaining strip to prevent blockage.

Finishing: The drying time will depend on the moisture content of the underlay. Normally, ceramic tiles can be laid after 6-12 hours. At least 12-18 hours should be allowed after a mix has been applied before damp proofing.

Screed Formula:  $\text{Approx thickness of screed (mm)} \times 1.7 \times \text{m}^2 \text{ of floor} = \text{No. of bags}$

Superior quality nails designed for use with Pownailer. Made with high quality steel to prevent bending, they have well formed barbs to maximise holding power. The design helps to eliminate split tongues on the floorboards.

Formula for calculating quantity of cleats required:  $A \div B \div C = \text{Qty required}$ where A = m<sup>2</sup> of floor; B = Plank width in meters; C = Distance between cleats;
 e.g.  $20\text{m}^2 \div 0.14 (140\text{mm}) \div 0.3 (300\text{mm between cleats}) = 476 \text{ cleats}$
