Pete,

No need to tell Paula. I have already done this and it's in her diary. When they get here they should ring the bell of number 26 and I'll let them in and give them a key to the building for their use during the day.

That said, should they decide or need to use a lift, we can ask Paula for her key which controls one of the 2 lifts and keeps the doors open for loading.

Presumably they won't want us around once they have seen me/us on arrival, so we will go out for the day. Please confirm that we are not wanted to be around.

You know we have been 'camping' in the flat while it is being refurbished. The decorators will not be around on 26th and we will put as much as we can (like storage boxes and items like cabinets to be fixed to the bathroom walls) into the bathrooms and kitchen. There is one functioning lavatory.

There are 2 beds in the living room which we would ask kindly to be repositioned in the bedroom once the new carpet is down.

The middle room is our 'study' and once the new carpet is down we would like the 2 armchairs and a butler's table left in the same room.

Finally, what time can we expect Jamie and Martin?

Kind regards and many thanks,

Andrew

Good morning, Andrew.

Hope all is well!

Many thanks for the information/reminders, I will share that with Jamie and Martin.

Presumably we need to ask for Paula on Wednesday to gain access ?

Regards,
Pete
